President and Mrs. Wilson Off for Week-end: Secretary of War and Mrs. Baker Leave City Aboard Army Mine-Planter for Newport News

Other News of Society at the Capital

Nattier blue weaves, is buttons

novel seams.

The skirt

shows side

headed by rosettes and is bordered by a band of the satin.

The President and Mrs. Wilson left Washington last evening aboard the Mayflower for a week-end cruise on the Po-

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Baker left Washington yesterday afternoon aboard an army mine-planter for New-port News. They were accompanied by Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Erasmus M. Weav-

The Secretary to the President, Mr. Tumulty, will go to Asbury Park today to spend the week-end with Mrs. Tumulty and their children at their summer cottage. smart little

Miss Hazel Jones, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Wesley L Jones, left Washington yesterday for their home in Seattle, where she will remain until the summer

Miss Lucia Hollerith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hollerith, is enter-taining a house party at their sum-mer home on Mobjack Bay, Va., when her guests include Mrs. Basil Boteler, Miss Anne Blackwood, Miss Lucy Mack-of chiffon all, and Miss Louise Loving

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Howard gave a dinner at Newport last evening, taking effectively their guests later to a dance at the Hill Top Inn.

Mrs. Joseph R. Wilson, of Baltimore, with same sister-in-law of the President, is among where she will spend several weeks. Mr. Newton, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Department, has returned to Washington after spending some time in Maine and along the New England coast. draped bodice De. and Mrs. Charles W. Richardson with its front be, and Mrs. Charles W. Richardson have been entertaining at Cleveden, their country home in Grant road, Dr. and Mrs. John M. Ingersoll, of Cleveland, Ohio, who are on an auto trip through self-covered

Mrs. Richardson Clover and Miss Beatrice Clover, who came to Washington from Elberon, N. J., where they are spending the summer, and were at their sleeves and home in New Hampshire avenue for several days, will return to Elberon today.

Miss Clover's marriage to Capt. Thomas
Holcomb, jr., U. S. M. C., will be solemn. ized in the autumn.

Mr. George Von L. Meyer, former Ambasador to Russia and Italy, has returned to Beverly, Mass., from his annual fishing trip to the Restigouche Fishing Club, Matepedia, Quebec. While Mr. Meyer was away Mrs. Meyer divided her time rosettes a between her daughter, Mrs. Raymond P. Rodgers, at Newport, and her son, Mr. G. V. L. Meyer, jr., at Hamilton.

Mrs. Francis Loring entertained at a Mrs. Francis Loring entertained at a bridge party at White Sulphur Springs for Mrs. James Carroll Fraser, of Washington. Those invited were Mrs. Thomas B. Yuille, Mrs. Sanford Kellogg, Mrs. Wymond Cabell, Mrs. James B. Branch, Mrs. L. W. Watson, Mrs. William Wheatley, Mrs. John Chisholm, Mrs. Henry Rutledge Buist, Mrs. Kellogg Bradley, Miss Sarah Poe, Mrs. Lewis Hancock, Mrs. Thomas Paine and Mrs. Garrett B. Wall. The prizes were boxes of conserves.

Springs. Other guests included Mrs. Edgar H. Bright, Mrs. George McL. Clark, Mrs. Charles Scullen, Mrs. Mary Thompson Clendenning, Mr. J. Ryan, Dr. R. A. Black, Mr. and Mrs. Festus J. Wade, Miss Florence Wade, and Mrs. N. A. Black, Mrs. Springs Florence Wade, and Mrs. N. A. Sudden growth of the winter sign today and dustries accidents should be guarded against with dustries special care.

During the winter there may be an epidemic of crimes that are inspired by cupidity—forgery, theft and embezziement will increase.

Sudden growth of the spring today and dustries sign today and dustries are inspired by cupidity—forgery, theft and embezziement will increase.

Among the members of the Washingner colony in Newbort who attended the garden fete on the lawn of the Art Association were Mme. Riano, Mrs. I. Goodwin Hobbs, Mrs. Gibson Fahne-stock, Mrs. Albert Gleaves, Miss Evelina Gleaves, Mrs. Abert Gleaves, Mrs. Evenna Gleaves, Mrs. Robley D. Evans, Mrs. Franck Taylor Evans, Mrs. Slater, Miss Mary Gwynn, Miss Martha A. Codman, and Miss Marguerite Caperton.

Mrs. Lee D. Latimer and children will leave Washington next Thursday for Canada, where they will remain until au-

Lieut. Roscoe Dillon, U. S. N., and Mrs. Dillon are spending the summer at the Sweet Chalybeate Springs of Virginia, accompanied by their children.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont have as their guests at Newport Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, who will re-luncheon at Lenox yesterday, in honor of Col. and Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, of Washington.

Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States Comer of Education, and Mrs. Claxton, will spend the week-end at the Tome School, Port Deposit, Md., where they will be the guests of Dr. Thomas S, Baker, headmaster of the school, at the latter's residence on the campus

HOROSCOPE.

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

NATTIER BLUE CLOTH AND SATIN.

and Texas towns is foretold.

California has the prognostication of extraordinary events that will arouse the nation. These may affect Hawaii and the Philippines. Persons whose birthdate it is may meet with obstacles in the way of business during the coming year. Children born on this day may have numerous changes in their lives. These subjects of Leo often have phlegmatic temperament and self confidence. (Copyright, 1916.)

YOUR WEDDING DAY And the Famous Men and Women Who Have Shared It.

August 5-Edward Montagu and Elizabeth Robinson. Rudolph Spreckles and Eleanor J. Jolliffe.

By MARY MARSHALL.

Though but twenty-two at the time of her marriage. Elizabeth Robinson could not have been more wordly wise or less romantic in her choice of a husband had Mrs. Leroy M. Goff, accompanied by her children, is spending the summer near Marthas Vineyard.

Viscount Henri de Sibour has arrived at Narragansett Pier for a brief stay. at Narragansett Pier for a brief stay.

Mrs. Marcus Hanna entertained at luncheon at her home in Seal Harbor Neighborhood House.

Agrangement Pier for a brief stay.

Cretion prejudice his character." Edward Montagu, the suitor who satisfied this qualification, brought his wife great wealth and high position, for he was a member of parliament and the grandgon of an earl. That he was twenty-nine years older than Elizabeth and a man of serious and quiet habits, does not seem to have detracted in the least. Perhaps to have detracted in the least. Perhaps minutes.

Former Senator and Mrs. Chauncey M.
Depew have arrived at Lenox from Virginia Hot Springs.

Mme. Christian Hauge has as her guests at her cottage in Southampton her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Todd, of Kentucky, and their children. Miss Louise Todd and Master

 Since I married I have never * Since I married I have never heard him say an ill word to any one nor have I received one matrimonial children, Miss Louise Todd and Master

Had there been more intensity of love between the two or a deeper companion-ship, Elizabeth Montagu might never have become the celebrated leader of intellectual society that she was-might never have become, in fact, the original "blue stocking." It had been her ambi-tion even before her marriage to as-sociate with the great intellects of her time, and in her magnificent home to time, and in her magnificent home in Dover street, London, she had every op-"The stars incline, but do not compel."

Saturday, August 5, 1916.

Good and ill are in the balance today. While Mercury and the Sun are in bestyle of wearing blue silk stockings they

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh S. Legare were hoste at a luncheon at the Casino at Narragansett Pier.

Mrs. Ramsdell, widow of the Rev. Charles B. Ramsdell, will go to Washington Grove today to spend the week-end with Miss Netta Craig, of Georgetown.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Choate gave a dinner at their villa in Stockridge, Mass, for Mr. Prederick Sterling, of Cleveland, Ohio, a secreta of the Legation of Greece, has arrived to pass some time with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Legation of Greece, has arrived to pass some time with Mr. and Mrs. H. Campbell Graef were among the guests at a dinner which of the service of public oncern) and white corn from best worse.

Mr. alcander Vouros, Charge d'Afficiers of the Legation of Greece, has arrived to pass some time with Mr. and Mrs. H. Campbell Graef were among the guests at a dinner which to this day is destockings," a term which to this day is the fields to my mill, and then from bestockings, "a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings, "a term which to this day is the stockings, "a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings, "a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings, "a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to this day is the stockings," a term which to the stockings," as term which to t this country has been fulfilled by his active life. (Copyright, 1916.)

TOMORROW'S MENU

Traverse the desert, and then ye can tell What treasures exist in the cold deep Sink in despair on the red parched earth,

And then ye may reckon what water is -MISS ELIZA COOK.

BREAKFAST. elons. Cereal and Cream, Ham Cakes. Raised Biscuit. Coffee, DINNER. Consonne.

Roast Lamb.
Sweet Potatoes. Baked Mushrooms.
Cream Cheese and Pepper Salad.
Ice Cream.

LUNCHEON OR SUPPER. Pepper and Onion Sandwiches. Cold Sliced Ham. Sliced Peaches. Spice Cakes Iced Coffee.

Ham cakes-Take one-half cupful of cooked chopped ham and mix with one half cupful of bread crumbs, one cupmashed potatoes, and one beaten egg. Season to taste, and add one spoonful of melted butter. Beat all until thoroughly mixed. Form into cakes. into crumbs, beaten egg and fry in

Pepper and onion sandwiches-Remove the seeds from three crisp green papers Put them through the meat grinder with an equal quantity of Bermuda onions Mix with mayonnaise, and spread between thin slices of bread.

BAND CONCERT PROGRAM

March—'National Defense' Lampe Overture—'Peace Jubilee' Reinecke Characteristic—'Simplicty' Lee Cornet Solo—'New Oreation' Smith

"Gipsy Serenade"..... "The Star Spangled Banner." Note-The audience is requested to stand and men to remove their hats when "The Star Spangled Banner" is played.

THE DAILY ADVENTURES OF PUSS IN BOOTS, Jr.

> BEDTIME STORIES. By DAVID CORY.

Puss Meets a Modest Mending Man

"If I'd as much money as I could spend I never would cry old chairs to mend: Old chairs to mend, old chairs to mend I never would cry old clothes to sell and a Jolly Miller.

"Well, what would you do?" asked Puss Junior, coming up to the funny little man who was singing this song as he journeyed along over the roadway down the hill, across the bridge to the creaking mill.

spend."

"Td buy a little house and a little cow and a little pig, and I'd live all the days of my life as happy as could be," replied the funny little man.

"That wouldn't take such an awful lot of money," replied Puss. "You said in your song if you had 'as much money as you could spend." I should think that would mean a big castle and a big automobile and a big yacht and, and"—

"I couldn't spend more than a little, for I've never had much practice in spending," answered the funny little man. Before Puss could make reply they crossed the bridge and found themselves opposite the old mill. In the doorway opposite the old mill. In the doorway stood the miller all covered with flour. His hat was dusty too; even his hair and eyelashes were white with the dusty

"Any old chairs to mend?" asked the funny little man.
"I have a stool here that has lost a leg." replied the miller, "and an old clock that has lost a hand, and my wife has a pitcher that has lost a mouth and a needle that has one eye. Can you mend them all?"

them all?"
"You'd better call in the doctor," said the funny little man, 'he's the person you want."
"Ha, ha!" roared the miller, "I was only joking." only joking.

"So was I," answered the little man;
"give me the stool, I will heal that patient first, then we'll see about the The miller presently brought out the injured stool, and while it was being mended he and Puss Junior had a talk.

"Yes," said the miller as Puss seated himself on a sack of flour, "I'm a busy man. It's grind, grind all day long. Red corn and yellow corn and white corn from the cribs of the farmers. From

THE PICNIC BASKET.

By FRANCES MARSHALL.

Children love a picnic. And to them any meal eaten out of doors is a picnic. So picnics need be little trouble to the mother of the house. A simple luncheon placed in a box and eaten out of doors, whether on the back porch, in the garden, in a vacant lot or a field or the woods is a picnic. woods, is a picnic.

woods, is a picnic.

It is a wise plan always to keep on hand picnic supplies. The cheapest sort of white paper napkins, empty boxes in which to pack things, paper cups and plates—all these things can be kept on a pantry shelf. Then, when children are restless, or when a busy day looms ahead of the mother of the house, a picnic can be surgered for the children. nic can be suggested for the children. Some older person can go with them, if necessary. And, of course, when the whole family can join in a picnic supper or lunch, so much the better for all Remember that the simplest sort of lunch will be delicious when eaten out of doors. And if you have some sort of treat besides, the lunch will be wonder-Fruit, sandwiches and cakes and some sort of beverage are always sufficient for a picnic.

As for the sandwiches, anything you may have on hand will serve as their filling. Chopped meat of any kind, well seasoned, chopped hard-boiled eggs, let-tuce and mayonnaise, watercress with Beat all French dressing, chopped nuts, jam or marmalade, all make good sandwiches. Children can be taught to make sand-wiches, and will make them gladly for a picnic which they are themselves to en-

> Keep boxes of sweet biscuit or wafers on hand, to take the place of cakes when these are not at hand. And an occasional treat of olives will be welcomed.

As for the beverages, these are diffi-cult to carry. A good way is to let each child carry a pint bottle of some sort with his or her own drink in it. Canteens are sold with boy scout supplies, but these, of course, are not cheap. A pint bottle can be carried in a tan linen or cotton bag, which is lined with corru-gated paper and hung over the shoulder with stitched straps of the material.
(Copyright, 1916.)

HEADS PRESS COMMITTEE.

Mrs. Helen N. Doocy Honored by District D. A. R.

Mrs. Helen Nelson Doocy was appointed yesterday chairman of the press committee of the District Columbia Daughters of the American Revolution by Mrs. Catherine E. Brumbaugh, State regent

FOLK WE TOUCH

OUR WIVES.

By JULIA CHANDLER.

Should a woman's home be held sacred against the intrusion of business?

Or, do you think with The Lawyer that marriage would have greater chance of happiness and success if The Wife realized the necessity for a sometimes distasteful social intercourse with The Husband's business associates?

The Lawyer and The Broker sat on the broad verandah of the Country Club smoking quietly, and watching in silence the silver touch of moonbeams on the golf links.

It would have been obvious to any passer-by that the spirits of either man were far from a jubilant state although the casual observer might never have been able to analyze the cause, for both were successful enough in business, and, as far as the world knew, were contented enough in their family relations.

"Our wives, God open their eyes."

"What's the matter, old top?" queried The Lawyer finally. "You seem a bit depressed.

"Lost my biggest customer," came the succint reply. "How's that?" asked The Lawyer, sympathetically, drawing his chair a bit nearer in his interest. "My wife," came the frank reply.

"It was this way," he went on to explain.

"Chap belonged to a flashy rich set of New York. Last time he was in town he brought his wife—a tawdry female whose chief subsistence is nervous excitement. When he told me she was here I immediately suggested that my wife take her out for an auto ride next morning while we went over some business matters. He was delighted. Said his companion was a bit bored at the hotel, and would be glad to see something of the city, as it was her first time here.

ECONOMY CALENDAR "Well, I went home and told The Little Lady. I explained that she probably wouldn't find The Visitor a very congenial companion, but that her tact and good sense in the matter meant a lot to me as my customer was crazy about his wife. I sketched their sort for The Little Lady; rictured their tastes, and told her to spare no money in making The Visitor have a good time. I wanted her to hire a good looking car and when she had spent the morning seeing the town to take her guest to Wharf, foot 7th street, 7 p. m. Home plenty going on all the time.

"The Little Lady said she understood, and my mind was so easy about the outcome of her morning that I could give my whole thought to business, and when I parted from The New Yorker I had the promise of handling all his local business in future.

"Well," ended The Broker, disgustedly, "he hasn't come through. My wife queered it. The visitor was so entirely not her type that my wife lost interest as soon as they met, hired an old one-horse rig and jogged around town a couple of hours and took her to the most stupid, inconsequential cafe she could find for lunch. It's whatever The Visitor said to her husband that queered the game, and my wife was responsible." The Broker sighed, and The Lawver was silent.

"You have touched the keynote of the failure of most marriages, declared The Lawyer after a little. "Yours is a common experience. had one somewhat similar with The Only Girl. The wealthiest landholder of the West blew into town with his wife some months ago. He was the biggest client I ever had. My income from his business alone would have supported my family any year.

"On an impulse I invited them home for dinner when they arrived and phoned The Only Girl that they were coming. She reminded me that we were having the Baynes that evening, a supercultured couple, of whom The Only Girl was very fond. It was too late to crawl out of my invitation to The Client. Even while I talked he was blustering outside the telephone booth. I told The Only Girl I had forgotten about the Baynes and begged her to be nice to these Western folk." "And was she?" asked The Broker, breaking The Lawyer's reminis-

"As frigid as the North Pole; as superior as an archangel; as unap-proachable as the Kaiser. Was she nice? Well, I should say NOT. And the Baynes were as remote as the nethermost region. They felt affronted and showed it so plainly that The Client fidgeted in discomfort. and as soon as he decently could after dinner took his leave in obvious resentment.

"When it was all over I told The Only Girl that she had doubtless lost for me the best client I ever had in my life, or ever would have. Whereupon she sobbed half the night, said I was brute to have brought such people into her home; that I had insulted her cherished friends; that a man had no right to sacrifice the sacred privacy of his domicile upon the altar of business, and a lot more rot that I can't remember now." "Did you lose The Client?" The Broker asked practically.

"Certainly," answered The Lawyer, "and other clients of less importance, in much the same fashion.

"The trouble with most women is that they don't grasp marriage of the organization for the District.

Other members of the press committee are Mrs. Anna S. Hamilton, Mrs. Guerney are Mrs. Anna S. Hamilton, Mrs. Guerney as a partnership," he analyzed. "They seem unable to understand the S. Strong, Mrs. Sallie Grant Gates, Mrs. Edson L. Whitney, Mrs. Mary St. Clair Blackburn, Miss Mary W. Durham, Miss Edith L. Kelsey, Miss Eva Elizabeth Luke, Miss Ada Lee Tranthain, Miss Enima Strider, Miss Marie Tunstall, Miss Cylinda Ford, and Miss Jane B. Young.

For the Auto Outing Trip-

Equip with a Hawkeye

Refrigerator Basket It will keep your lunch cool, fresh and clean. Just a little ice will do for twenty-four hours, keeping milk sweet and fresh, butter firm, salads, sandwiches and beverages cool and in perfect condition.

Prices, $5.50, $6.00 and upward

Thermos Jars For All Kinds of Food.

Thermos Lunch Kits-Drinking Cups, Etc.

Thermos Bottles For Picnics, Outings, Etc.

Dulin & Martin & 1215 F St. and 1214-18 G St.

AMUSEMENTS.

B. F. KEITH'S "Surpassing Charm."-Post.

MLLE. RASCH And Eight Coryphees Beautiful Andrew Toombs & Lola Wentworth Mary K. Brookes' "Some Politician." Seven Others of Stellar Rank NEXT WEEK-Sophie Tucker & Her Fre-Sings of Syncopation. Higgs & Witchie, Etc.

GLEN ECHO Regular Fun Tonight

And Tomorrow Big Band, Free Mories, Etc. LOEW'S COLUMBIA

WALLACE REID & CLEO RIDGELY In 'The House of the Golden Windows'

GreatFalls

Sunday Orchestra Concerts

Section American Ladies' Orchestra

FREE DANCING Afternoons and Evenings FREE MOVIES

POPULAR AMUSEMENTS Great Falls Cars Leave 36th and M Sts. N. W.

DELIGHTFULLY RESTFUL MOON LIGHT OUTINGS

Yacht-like Steamer GRATITUDE

Enjoy a Breezy 40-Mile Ride. Tickets Limited to 300, ROUND TRIP- Adults, 25c.

Go BERMUDA

Cooler Than Middle Atlantic For Your Vacation

8-Day Tours 42.50 Up Including All Expenses - Steamer Hotel and Side Trips. AU Outdoor Sports, Including

Golf, Tennis, Bosting, Bathing, Cycling, Fishing. S. S. "Bermudian" Sails from N. Y. alternate Weds. and Sats.

End Sats.

For booklets apply to Quebec S. S. Co., M.

Broadway, New York: Mose Steemship Agency, 517 18th et. nw., or any Ticket Agent.

$2.50 · Philadelphia $2.25 to Chester

$2.00 to Wilmington

SUNDAYS August 13, 27; September 10, 24; SPECIAL TRAIN

Lre. Washington (Union Station), 726 a.m. Returning, leaves Broad Street Station, 7:15 p. m.; West Philadelphia, 7:18 p. m.; Chester, 7:28 p. m.; Wilmington, 8:30 p. m. Sale of tickets begins day preceding each excursion.

Pennsylvania R. R.

Peaches Reach Eastern Markets. Shipments of peaches from points in # the fruit belts of West Virginia Maryland adjacent to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad lines have been received in the eastern markets, according to information received from James R. Bell, of Cumberland. The West Virginia peaches went to New York.